It has paddocks cross fenced for rotational grazing and there is a well on site and several ponds ensuring plenty of livestock water. There is also a corral for safely loading, working and sorting livestock.

In addition to the high quality pasture this parcel has a beautiful 75 acre section of woods on the North West corner. It features some nice elevation offering commanding views and a good stand of mixed hardwood trees and plenty of soft mast, berry producing, wildlife attracting shrubs. This part of the property would make a great building site or hunting land and even has a history of gravel production.

This property has 102 acres set aside with a FSA easement for water fowl production. That area is fenced off and not grazed until after August 1st each year and fits in perfect with the current rotational grazing program.
